Virtual CODtalks: STORIES worth SHARING

In honor of Women’s History Month, the Office of Student Life’s upcoming CODtalk will feature a panel presentation by MALAS (Mujeres Advancing Leadership, Advocacy, and Success). We invite all women, students, and staff to join us on Wednesday, March 10, from 3:30 – 4:30m p.m. on Zoom.

MALAS is a recently emerging network of Coachella Valley women in various leadership spaces and stages. The women of MALAS all work together in a concerted way to help provide support for women as they grow in leadership roles, and address and advocate for issues of importance in their communities. The group also works in an effort to seek independence from the dominant local and regional political systems that have largely excluded and even harmed women.

During the event, the focus of discussion presented by the panel of women from MALAS will be “Women in Leadership”. The group will also cover topics on the barriers, strategies, and victories women face in various leadership positions.
